

VFW Selects Inside Rx to Offer a Free Drug Savings Card to Members and Their Families

The Inside RxSM card will offer discounts on medications to help the estimated one-third of veterans who are uninsured or underinsured afford their prescription medications, often the first line of defense in dealing with an illness or chronic condition

KANSAS CITY, Mo. – The Veterans of Foreign Wars of the U.S. (VFW) today announced an agreement with Inside Rx to offer easy access to its 1.3 million members and their families who can benefit from the free Inside Rx savings card that provides deep discounts to the uninsured and underinsured who pay cash for their prescription medications. The Inside Rx card can be used in any of the more than 40,000 participating pharmacies in the U.S. and offers more than 125 brand-name medications at a savings average of 40 percent, and a robust list of generics with an average of nearly 80 percent off retail*.

“We are honored to work with the VFW to provide an important stop-gap measure that may lower the cost of the prescription medications for our veterans,” said Leslie Achter, CEO of Inside Rx, a partially owned subsidiary of Express Scripts (NASDAQ: ESRX). “In working with manufacturers and retail pharmacies, we are able to provide deep discounts to eligible patients who are currently paying full-list price on the prescription medications they need for themselves, their families and even their pets.”

Inside Rx provides access to discounts on select medications prescribed for chronic conditions such as diabetes, heart disease, high-blood pressure and depression for eligible patients. The card also offers discounts when buying medications commonly prescribed for pets such as insulin and antibiotics, as well as seizure, glaucoma, and anti-inflammatory

“For chronic health conditions, prescription drug therapy can be a critical part of treatment that many veterans and their family members forgo because of cost,” said VFW National Commander Keith Harman. “The VFW is pleased to promote this free prescription savings program, which may be particularly helpful for the substantial number of veterans and their families who do not have access to health insurance coverage due to ineligibility or cost.”

The Inside Rx card is available online at InsideRx.com/VFW, where veterans can download the card and check the list of participating pharmacies, medication listing, and usage terms.

Benefiting from the Inside Rx discounts is easy for eligible patients who only need to present the discount card at participating pharmacies, including national chains such as CVS, the Kroger Family of Pharmacies and Walgreens. There is no membership fee or other costs to obtain the card, which could save eligible patients hundreds or even thousands of dollars a year.
